ISTROUMA HANDBOOK

1968-69

History of the School

The Istrouma school has grown from a one-room elementary school to the modern high school plant we now enjoy.

Beginning with the 1920-'21 session, the high school department was added, one grade at a time. The first class, consisting of eight members, graduated in 1924. Their sixteen high school units were chosen from a total offering of eighteen.

As the student body has grown in size and interests, the curriculum, physical plant, guidance program, and other facilities have expanded to meet its increasing needs. The members of the class of 1966 selected their seventeen units from more than fifty possibilities; their only limitation being compliance with the requirements of the State Department of Education.

In the forty-odd years of its history, Istrouma High School has progressed from a spare classroom in the elementary school to one of the most modern and well-equipped plants in the nation, leaving in its wake as visible evidence the four buildings now occupied by the Istrouma Elementary and Istrouma Junior High Schools.

However, real progress of the school is traced, not in buildings, not in numbers, but in the increasing contributions of its graduates as they take their places in their chosen vocations and in the life of the community.

Philosophy of the School

The faculty and administration of this school believe that the primary purpose of any school is the intellectual development of its pupils; that the school is the unique agency in this trust; that the comprehensive high school is a fitting and acceptable unit wherein this purpose can be pursued under the guidance of a professionally trained staff. We believe, therefore, that a school must be continually aware of new knowledge and methods, both in subject matter fields and in teaching procedures, weighing each development to determine its value and application to a local situation.

We hold, further, that every educator must have respect for basic intellectual training in all fields, recognizing the fact that in a comprehensive high school there is a wide range of interests and abilities among pupils. It is the duty, therefore, of the school to challenge the individual to work to capacity in order that he may take advantage of his God-given right to develop the best that is in him-mentally, physically, morally, and spiritually. We are also convinced that a vital part of the development of an individual is the inculcation in him of a belief in his worth as an individual and a recognition of his obligation to grow into an emotionally stable, clear-thinking, well-informed member of society.

The objectives which we seek to attain in the light of this philosophy include:

- To study the pupil in order that we may know him--his traits, interests, needs, capacities --and in order that we may help him to know himself.
- To provide a flexible curriculum which will meet changing conditions in society as well as the basic needs and individual differences among pupils.
- To make available competent guidance to help each pupil plan a program suitable to his own needs, interests, aptitudes, and abilities.
- 4. To discourage too-early specialization at the expense of basic education in the humanities.
- To develop in pupils the capacity to think for themselves, that they may become intellectually independent.
- 6. To encourage active but limited participation in extra-curricular activities, making sure, through competent supervision, that such activities have distinct educational value.
- To seek to teach pupils to recognize and cling to the permanent values in our civilization.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS AND ADVISERS 1968-69

THE ISTROUMA ALMA MATER

Istrouma's Alma Mater is very dear to her heart because the words were written by a former student, Mary Emma Buckley. The inspiring music was composed by Professor W. B. Clark, a leader of the L.S. U. Cadet Band and also director of music at Louisiana State School for the Blind, for more than forty years.

President Vice-President Secretary Parliamentarian Margaret Parker Dina Ouber Pat Allen Guy Ourso

Mr. Hollimon, Mrs. Skaggs, and Miss Watkins

The Istrouma High School Student Council has become the most prominent and progressive organization in our school, because it represents all students of Istrouma High School in student government. Through selected homeroom representatives each member of the student body has an opportunity to contribute his ideas and talents in the interest of his school. We hope that you, the students, will continue to cooperate in the organization.

The council exists primarily to give students learning experiences, meaningful to them, in practicing the democratic way of life. In addition to the development of good citizenship, the council sponsors various activities designed for the benefit of our student body and our school. In order to be a well-functioning organization the Istrouma High School Student Council must have the earnest and sustained support of the students it represents. All students are urged to study seriously the student council charter and to understand completely the provisions set forth.

Very careful consideration should be given to the selection of representatives of the homerooms. They should be chosen solely on the basis of their qualities of character, attitude, and abilities, as set forth in Article III, Section A, of the student council charter.

The representative himself will be expected to attend all meetings or, in case of unavoidable absence, notify his homeroom alternate to attend the meeting. If any homeroom is unrepresented for two consecutive meetings or for three meetings in one semester, the room will be asked to elect a new representative. He must understand also that he will serve on a committee and/or committees. He must be willing to accept all these responsibilities in order to be of service to his homeroom and to the student council.

SPECIAL SERVICES

GUIDANCE

The purpose of the Guidance program at Istrouma is to provide counseling opportunity for every child in high school, either through group or individual sessions. Counseling interviews may be to give each student the help he needs in his personal and social adjustment, to help him interpret strengths and weaknesses indicated by test scores, to help him plan his education, to show him where to obtain information on occupations, to assist him in preparing for his life work, and to give any other assistance which he needs.

The Guidance office will be open from 30 minutes before school until 30 minutes after school closes daily, and the counselors, Mrs. Sadie Bodden, Mr. Tom Hollimon, and Mrs. Hall, are eager to be of service. Students and their parents are to feel free to come to the Guidance office at any time; but, in order to secure privacy for individual interviews, they will find it advisable to form the habit of making appointments. A box for this purpose will be located on the secretary's desk in the Guidance office.

Besides the services of the counselors, the guidance department provides files of occupational information, college catalogues, and scholarship material.

Do not hesitate to ask the counselors for any other information that you need. You will always find us busy, but never too busy to stop and help you with your concerns.

DEVELOPMENTAL READING LABORATORY

This school year, Istrouma High School will operate its new Developmental Reading Laboratory for all students. The laboratory is designed not only to increase skill and speed, but also to widen the scope of reading.

We started using the laboratory a year ago for some students. The facilities, however, was limited. Since then, under the direction of Mr. Brown, our principal, and many teachers, the laboratory has been equipped with the best materials and machines to provide instruction in a wide variety of reading skills.

Istrouma is proud of its position and is proud of always offering the best to students. We want to thank the community for its wonderful cooperation in making this possible.

TUTORING

Another service of the Guidance department is the tutoring service. Students who are having difficulties in work in any of their subjects may come by the department to ask for assistance. If desired, the guidance counselors will provide a tutor who is an outstanding student in a particular subject to aid the slower student.

VOCATIONAL LIBRARY

The vocational library is, as its name implies, a library of vocational literature, kept up to date by the purchase of new books and pamphlet material.

The scholarship file is labeled and students are welcome to study the information found there. College catalogues are available for most schools, whether in Louisiana or another state. If we no not have a college catalogue from the school of your choice, we will make every effort to obtain one. Other materials on scholarships and books on colleges, as well as other sources of information are here for your use. The materials in this library generally do not circulate beyond the room; after use, all books and materials should be carefully replaced in their original position. Each student will profit from an early visit to the vocational library to familiarize himself with the available materials.

We expect self-disciplined students to use this vocational library for personal research on career possibilities. Students are not at liberty to use the room for unauthorized private or unofficial group conferences. Group meetings are held by special permission of the counselors, and both teachers and students are requested to cooperate in helping make this a practice. Teachers are invited to use this room in connection with students' records to be found in the Guidance offices. All comers must observe the customary library quietness.

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION

Vocational Rehabilitation is a State-Federal program designed to assist handicapped individuals to fit themselves to gain a livelihood. This assistance is available to those having any physical or mental handicap; and it permits them to take training in colleges, business and trade schools, or to take on-the-job training with commercial establishments. If you are in any way handicapped, please contact the counselor and she will make the necessary arrangements for you. It is a very wonderful opportunity and one that you should take advantage of. Be sure to investigate this service.

HOMEROOMS

The schedule does not provide for a homeroom period. Homerooms will be called when needed at class periods.

At the beginning of the school year pupils are assigned to home room groups under the supervision of a teacher-sponsor, whose duties include the following:

- 1. To keep records of the pupils' absences, tardiness, and grades.
- 2. To be responsible for the report cards, cumulative records, and the guidance folder for each pupil in his or her group.
- 3. To see that all of the homeroom pupils are taking the proper courses, leading to graduation, preparation for college, or preparation for further occupations.
- In connection with the above and in other concerns of pupils, the teacher refers pupils to the counselor, or to others who can be of assistance to them.
- 5. To work with the counselor in carrying out an overall testing program.
- 6. To be present at all general assemblies of the school and be responsible for the proper behavior of the group on all occasions.
- 7. To advise and assist members of his group in every way possible.

- 4. Hair styles that will not permit a student to participate in normal H. & P. E. activities will not be tolerated ... i.e. teased hair, etc.
- Eye shadow and eyeliner is not considered proper for daytime wear; so, if it is noticable, it is prohibited for day time school wear.

GENERAL ASSEMBLIES

All students are required to attend general assemblies and to sit in sections assigned to their homeroom teacher. Failure to do so is regarded as an unexcused absence from school.

INITIATIONS

No person or group may have initiations of new members during the school day. This does not mean that new members cannot be recognized during assembly programs. It does mean, however, that initiation procedures pertaining to dress, and irregular activities involved in initiations are prohibited during the school day.

No hazing will be allowed in initiations. Any treatment which might lead to any form of injury is specifically forbidden. No person being initiated has to submit to this, or any other indignity, at any time or place. Initiations must have sponsor approval.

FACULTY RESPONSIBILITY

The administrative staff and faculty of the Istrouma Senior High School assume the responsibility of upholding those high standards of education which will reflect credit upon the student body, the school, its patrons, and the community.

The school does not, however, assume any responsibility for student activities not sponsored by the school; nor does it condone any student-planned activity that does not have faculty approval and supervision.

STATE TEXTBOOKS

Textbooks are the property of the State of Louisiana and are loaned to you free of charge. They are obtained at the beginning of the year from your classroom teacher. You are responsible for your book and for its care. A book that has been used is expected to show a reasonable amount of wear. However, unnecessary markings, torn pages, broken backs, and other such abuses are not classified as "reasonable"; and books so damaged must be paid for. Lending your books or giving other students free access to your locker is poor practice.

Textbooks left carelessly in stair wells, on window sills, or in halls will be confiscated and student will pay for same, as lost books.

At the end of the year or when you leave school, you must return each book in satisfactory condition to the teacher who issued it.

Mr. Landon has charge of textbooks and will be on duty in the book room (Room 111) at the sixth period each day.

Students needing to replace lost or damaged books must purchase them directly from Mr. Landon. However, in order to do so the student must present a signed permit from the teacher who issued the book.

LIBRARY

Hours of opening: 8:00 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Loans: The usual loan period is for fourteen days. A book may be renewed for an additional fourteen days provided no other student has reserved it. If the book has been reserved, it may be kept by the original borrower until it has been read. In that case, the borrower pays a fine of 2 cents per day for each day the book is overdue. In the case of books reserved by teachers for library use, a student may check the book out for overnight or week-end use only.

Fines: A fine of 2 cents per day is charged for a book kept later than the period it is due as indicated on the date due slip. A book due on Friday, but returned on Monday, is three days overdue.

All library obligations must be settled prior to midterm and final examinations.

DEPOSIT AND WITHDRAWAL OF FUNDS

Organizations are required to deposit their funds in the school treasury because our accounts are audited annually by the East Baton Rouge Parish School Board and all monies collected or spent in the school must be accounted for.

Teachers or treasurers of the school organizations who wish to deposit money in a school account will make out a deposit slip, put the money to be deposited and the deposit slip into a bank bag and place the bag in the third drawer, marked "Deposit", in the file in the vault. You will be issued a receipt for the amount deposited, and it will be duly credited to the proper account. The deposit bag, containing the receipt, will be placed to the rear of the "Deposit" drawer. These should be picked up as soon as possible. Sponsors wishing to check their accounts should see Mrs. Taylor, who is our school bookkeeper.

To withdraw funds, an organization or teacher must present a requisition properly filled out and signed. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained from Mrs. Taylor. A check will then be issued made out according to the requisition. The requisition should be made in advance of time that check is needed.

All equipment, supplies, awards, etc. must be approved by the principal or assistant principal before order is made.

HONORS

PELICAN STATE

Pelican Boys and Pelican Girls State programs, sponsored by the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary respectively, are held each August on the Louisiana State University campus. The objective of Boys State and Girls State is to educate a representative group of the youth of Louisiana in the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities of American citizenship. It is wholly a plan for training in the practical mechanics of government. At Pelican State every citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it.

Elections are held in the spring of the Junior year. A candidate for citizenship in either group must be from fifteen to nineteen years of age and have completed the Junior class in high school. The faculty and former citizens who are still attending school submit to the Junior class a list of nominees chosen for qualities of leadership, character, courage, honesty, cooperativeness, and scholarship. From this list the class elects the number required to fill an assigned quota. School authorities then certify the candidates to the American Legion posts and Auxiliary units. Once candidates are certified, the school has no official connection with the program. We do, however, expect citizens to report to the faculty and student body--usually in an assembly program--and to assist in the election and briefing of the ensuing year's candidates.

Fees are paid by civic, business, school, and other organizations secured as patrons by the American Legion.

Copies of Pelican State yearbooks from previous years are available for examination.

For further information see Mrs. Shaw.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year students who desire scholarships are urged to fill out scholarship cards in the guidance office. These cards assist the counselors in recommending students for available scholarships.

Students should pay close attention to bulletin board outside the guidance office, to the school newspaper, and to announcements. They should make it habit to study materials on scholarships, and catalogues found in the guidance library.

The school participates in the National Merit Examinations, the College Boards, and the American College Testing Program. Materials for all three may be obtained from the counselors. There are changes in awarding both honors and State Legislative scholarships. The funds so used are now in a loan fund. To secure these, a student must have a "C" average in English, mathematics, science, and social studies. He must apply directly to the college of his choice.

SPECIAL COURSES

Istrouma's program includes many activities other than the traditional subject matter courses. Some of these we feel require brief explanation.

ART

The art courses as offered at Istrouma are not trade courses. Their objective is not to produce, or even to start on their way, professional artists, commercial or otherwise. This may occasionally happen, but it is not necessary to the success of the program. It is the aim of the courses to produce students better able to live with themselves and with others and therefore better able to earn a living.

The art courses at Istrouma seek (1) to provide the student opportunity for expressing his ideas and emotions through creative activity in the art room; (2) to help him develop those skills and techniques in art which facilitate his expressions; (3) to help him at his own level to recognize, understand, and refine in his work those qualities of structure and composition common to all art, and to realize that those are universal qualities; and (4) to help him know that art is not confined to museums and galleries, but is found all around him in things he sees and uses every day.

Specifically, the courses include drawing from life and from still life, and outdoor sketching; lettering, composition, and poster making; pastel chalk and crayon work; tempera and water color painting; and ceramics. To this basic program will be added other activities and materials as students show the need and capacity for them.

The advanced courses are more specialized, allowing the students to concentrate on those phases of art in which they are especially interested.

DEBATE

Students who have a "B" average or above, who are interested in improving their speaking ability, and who are not afraid of good hard work are eligible for Debate (Speech III). Teams will enter the major debate tournaments throughout the state. Students interested indebating should contact Mr. McClain early in the year. It is not necessary for a student to be enrolled in a speech class in order to take part in debate.

Since the Club's founding, the membership has grown to 45 dancers. Their yearly activities include: Children's Theatre, a fall concert, a spring concert as well as other performances at school events. Each spring, the club attends master classes at the La. State College Dance Symposium where they receive training from professional dancers.

Membership is not limited, and tryouts are conducted each spring and fall to find available dancing talent. All students interested in ballet, jazz, modern dance, and theater dance should see Mrs. Smith.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

SENIOR DAY

The Senior Class of 1946 introduced Senior Day, which has been an annual class observance since. Its observance in the future will depend upon certain conditions that the senior class must agree upon. These conditions will be explained at a class meeting early in the year.

The purpose of this day is to give special recognition to the seniors. Planned and executed by the Seniors and the senior sponsors, the day's activities are climaxed by an assembly program built around the class history, song, prophecy, will, and other information of interest concerning the class. Special costuming of the seniors to carry out the motif adopted for the day usually adds color and an unique note to the tradition.

Senior Day is definitely planned as a day of tribute rather than special privilege for the class. The seniors attend their regular classes and observe the the regular school regulations.

All seniors who may be interested in planning for their class day may contact Mrs. Fousse, Senior Day chairman, and give their ideas and suggestions at various times during the year. Class day committees are organized on the basis of individual volunteering.

TENDERFOOT DAY

The first week of school is knows as Tenderfoot Week in honor of all newcomers to Istrouma High School. Activities are planned and executed under the direction of the Student Council, to welcome the tenderfoot and to make him feel at home. The highlight of the week is the Tenderfoot Day Assembly designed to give the newcomer a review of extra-curricular activities; to introduce the officers of the Student Council; to acquaint him with the famous Legend of Nawaganti; but most important to kindle his desire to conduct himself, wherever he may be, in a manner that will make him worthy of a place in the student body of Istrouma High School.

Each student is required to have a regulation gym suit, white socks, tennis shoes, and a combination lock. Students who are unable to participate in physical education must present written excuses from their doctors stating why they should be restricted from activity and to what degree.

Recreational games; team and individual sports; folk, social, and modern dancing; camping; and first aid are included in the program.

Awards presented on Awards Day are:

Groups I, II, III, IV Awards (based on leadership, achievement, and ability)

BOYS

The broad aims of the program in physical education for boys are the same as the general aims of education. The specific goals of this particular class are centered around the student's physical being rather than his academic abilities. Physical education is taught by grouping the boys homogeneously on the basis of initial skills. The male student body is divided into three groups and separate programs are planned for each. A designated gym uniform is required dress for class activity. Every boy must dress out daily.

ATHLETICS

In the field of athletics Istrouma offers a varied program of sports in which a great many students participate.

Girls have ample opportunity to participate ir varsity competition in individual and team sports. Although triple-A girls'teams do not compete for district and state championships, the varsity and junior varsity basketball teams do compete in the Tri-Parish League and enter several tournaments. Competition on the local, district, and state levels is offered in Softball, Volleyball, Tennis, Swimming, and Gymnastics. Girls interested in participating in varsity activities should schedule Physical Education at the third period.

Football, basketball, baseball, and track are the highlights of the boys' athletic schedule, both for the picked varsity teams and for Junior varsity and "B" athletics. To participate in "JV" or "B" team sports, it is compulsory that a boy be a tenth grader. A champion in "B" class will be crowned and awards presented in district competition beginning in 1961-62.

Students interested in taking part in any form of competitive athletics should contact the coach promptly.

As a member of the Louisiana Athletic Association, Istrouma High School is conscientious in helping athletes understand and follow the rules of the association. To avoid misunderstanding, athletes should read carefully the following explanation:

Pupils participating in athletic contests with organizations not connected with the school will be unable to participate in that particular sport for Istrouma High School.

Any boy participating in a boxing tournament is not eligible to compete in any form of athletics for the Istrouma High School.

Pupils participating in athletics with any nonschool organization will not be excused from school for this competition.

Rule 26 of the Louisiana High School Athletics Association states: "No two high schools will be permitted to unite for athletic purposes." The Executive Committee of this Association has further interpreted this rule to mean that no pupil attending a Junior High can compete under the colors of another high school. He must be a bona fide pupil of the school which he represents.
